

Lightsabre Umbrella

Contributed by CB Team
Wednesday, 13 May 2009
Last Updated Wednesday, 13 May 2009

When the Force of nature hits and you need protection from the elements this Lightsabre Umbrella may be just the ticket for Star Wars Fans.

At first glance it looks just like any other ordinary umbrella, but one click of the button on the handle will illuminate the shaft in a bright flash of Jedi white that's sure to scare off those evil Sith Lords waiting to pounce in the rain.

Or it might just make you look super cool on your commute to work (or possibly you may look a complete (ok we get the idea - ed :-)).

Features

- An umbrella with a light up shaft.
- 3 LED's make the shaft glow white at the flick of a switch, giving you an umbrella that looks like a lightsabre.
- Please note that you will have to provide your own sound effects (which is half the fun, really).
- Suitable for ages 12 years +
- Requires 3 x AAA batteries (not included).
- Size: 86 x 5cm

Iwantoneofthose